

Circles of Friends:

Gathering perspective on your friendships

"I'd rather have four quarters than ten dimes". Use the space below to map out your relationships. This activity can help you focus on where to put your time, energy, and effort when you are looking to meet your social needs.

